Hanne Marquardt

With 57 years of extensive experience in the Med-therapeutic field and 50 years of experience in foot reflexology, Hanne has trained a great number of therapists over 40 years! In that time she has created many new aspects in Reflexology and has discovered a surprisingly simple "key" to understanding the connection between the client and his/her reflecting areas on the feet.

RTF is an exact form of treatment that has developed over many years from an empiric method to an exact form of therapy. In 1958 after studying with Eunice Ingham, the method was tested for 9 years, resulting in the therapy becoming available in 1967 to students with a medical background. Today the main school in Germany has over 15 authorized branch schools internationally, and the importance of RTF is considered equal to that of other applications from that of physical therapy in clinics, sanatoriums and practices.
